Archaeology of Eastern Yorkshire: Excavation and Research, Present and Future

A day-school in memory of John Robert Mortimer (1825-1911) the eminent Yorkshire antiquarian and author of Forty Years Researches in British and Saxon Burial Mounds of East Yorkshire

We shall consider how the Mortimer legacy is being carried forward into the 21st century. Speakers will discuss a broad range of topics across current and future research in the archaeology of Eastern Yorkshire including landscape studies, settlement patterns, geophysical prospection, aerial photography, excavation, isotopic analysis and artefact studies.
